CONFRONTING LOSS AND GRIEF

MARCH 27 & 28, 2020 | FACULTY OF THEOLOGY

➤ PROGRAM

PLENARY LECTURE FRIDAY, 27th March 2020

dr. Vesna Radonjič Miholič, spec. Clinical psychology, with years of experience working in University Rehabilitation Institute, Republic of Slovenia - Soča.

PLENARY LECTURE SATURDAY, 28th March 2020

Joanna Hewitt Evans, MA MA, UKCP Gestalt Therapist, EAIP Integrative Psychotherapist, Supervisor and Trainer, works in private practice in UK and is a visiting trainer in several countries across Europe. She is particularly fond of Slovenia, where she has been a visiting trainer for IPSA for many years

“My late husband was Ken Evans, former president of the European Association for Psychotherapy. Amongst other publications he was the author of ‘Living with Dying’, his experience of losing his first wife, to cancer and the process of their parting. Everyone I had ever lost had died very suddenly, my father, my stepfather a boyfriend, a friend - no goodbyes. I lived in fear of Ken dying this way too. And in 2015 he did - suddenly and unexpectedly.

Since then I have learned a lot about the interplay between loss, grief and trauma, particularly the impact on the body and the autonomic nervous system. I have experienced the revisiting of early attachment patterns, the complications of transference and unconscious processes. And most importantly I discovered through acceptance of vulnerability and compassion, a deeper resilience, a deeper connection to myself and others. Finally I am no longer afraid of the future.

This lecture will be a personal exploration of 'Living with Death' or 'Living with Loss', in which I hope to share some of my experience and what it has helped me learn. I also want to invite you to explore and share your experiences of loss.

Together, through compassion and connection, we develop resilience and can grow.”

PRESENTATIONS, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

The presentations will take place in sections. Short sections offer a chance for authors to present their work to their colleges. They offer participants to widen their knowledge on certain fields of study. In between breaks and through lunch time for socializing will be provided.

➤ CALL FOR SUBMISSION

We invite you to send a submission on the topic: “CONFRONTING LOSS AND GRIEF”.

“The topic of this year's Congress of The Association of Marriage and Family Therapists Slovenia is ‘loss’. With the words loss and mourning we first think of death, of passing away. But we feel loss and we grieve on many other occasions: when we have to deal with the effects of illness; with disability, trauma or guilt following a serious car accident; on infertility, loneliness and many other problems that life can bring. Separation from a partner can also be a kind of loss; of the previous relationship and a subsequent building of new relationships in its place, the loss of the ideal of eternal love and, ultimately, the loss of the feeling security in a relationship. For many people who have not had a happy childhood there is loss in the painful realization of losing hope in their parents’ ability of giving confirmation and love they crave and deserve. Loss is a part of life and facing it always presents a unique challenge, which we often grapple with in the therapeutic process.”
